

OBSERVANCE OF CONSTITUTION DAY IN POLITICAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT, VIC

November 26 is celebrated as Constitution Day (Samvidhan Divas) to commemorate the adoption of the Constitution of India. In this year 2023, 26th November was a Sunday, so the Constitution Day has been observed in Political Science Department on 29th November 2023. We were pleasantly surprised with the performance of our students during the said programme. Having asked them to speak on an issue of their choice under the broad theme of Understanding the Constitution of India, we listened to them, speaking extensively on the law of our land; spanning from the genesis of our Constitution to its efficacy and significance. To top it all, they themselves engaged spontaneously in a part debate - part group discussion on the probable areas of amendment(s) which their generation would like to see happen!

We thank our Principal for having us organise this event and inspiring us.

We shall continue observing Constitution Day henceforth.

