

Report of the Professional Ethics and Employability Training Programme, Organised by the Counselling Cell, in collaboration with IQAC, VIC and conducted by the Naandi Foundation's Mahindra Pride Classroom

The Counselling Cell organised an Add on Course on Professional Ethics and Employability Training in collaboration with the IQAC for the students of Semester 4, who just completed their examination. It was a 6 days course, covering 36 hours and conducted by the renowned Naandi Foundation's Mahindra Pride Classroom, held on 21st to 29th August, 2023. The course was attended by around fifty (50) students. This was quite a beneficial venture for the students since it offered a good exposure to them on job market and also provided them with a grooming for preparing themselves to cope up with the requirements of the professional world. Apart from enhancing their self-esteem and interpersonal skills, this course also helped the students to develop their problem solving and critical thinking skills. Every student received certificates after the successful completion of the Course & best performers also received trophies.
